Time: - 11.00am to 01.00 pm

Report

On 07 March 2022 at 11 a.m. career counselling lecture was organized for SYBA & TYBA students. Psychology Professor Sagar Karande delivered a lecture on career opportunity in the field of Psychology, and overall arts career opportunity. Total 55 students were present for this lecture.

He explained the following points in the lecture. Humanities are academic disciplines that study aspects of human society and culture. In the Renaissance, the term contrasted with divinity and referred to what is now called classics, the main area of secular study in universities at the time. Today, the humanities are more frequently contrasted with natural, and sometimes social sciences, as well as professional training.

It is the biggest and most extensive field covering a variety of topics and subjects such as anthropology, archaeology, law, religion, music, arts, linguistics and languages, politics, philosophy among others.

For many decades, there has been a growing public perception that a humanities education inadequately prepares graduates for employment. The common belief is that graduates from such programs face underemployment and incomes too low for a humanities education to be worth the investment.

Humanities graduates find employment in a wide variety of management and professional occupations.

- Arts as a career stream are most rewarding for people who are passionate and talented.
- Low entry barrier at most colleges enable quick and easy admission process.
- Fee structure and duration of classes is comparatively lower than other streams.

Career opportunity in Psychology

Psychology is both a science and a profession. As a science it is a systematic approach to the understanding of people and their behavior. Psychology can be broadly defined as the study of the mind (normal or abnormal). Psychologists carry out research and conduct programs in an attempt to understand human behavior to help solve human problems. Psychologists apply their knowledge and techniques to a wide range of human services, management, education, law and sports.

Psychologists gather information for diagnosis and remedial work through tests of personality; performance; aptitude and intelligence; observation, interviews and questionnaires; clinical studies; or surveys or controlled laboratory experiments. Psychologists specialize in many different areas:

- Educational Psychologists design, develop and evaluate educational programs. They deal with learning, behavior and emotional problems as well as with handicapped children

- Developmental Psychologists study the patterns and causes of behavioural change from infancy to adulthood
- Counseling Psychologists help people on how to deal with problems of everyday living - personal, social, educational, or vocational
- Experimental Psychologists conduct experimental research on various aspects of human behaviour
- Psychometrics study methods and techniques used to acquire and evaluate psychological data
- Cognitive Psychologist's study the brain's role in memory, thinking and perceptions and involve themselves with research related to artificial intelligence
- Neuro Psychologists study the relation between human physical systems and behavior. These psychologists work in stroke and head injury programs, oncology programs, and medical practices specializing in neurology
- Research Psychologists investigate the physical, cognitive, emotional or social aspects of human behavior
- Applied Psychologists are involved in counseling, training programs; market research; mental health services in hospitals, clinics, or private settings
- Clinical Psychologists concern themselves with mental health programs ranging from normal psychological crisis to extreme conditions. They work in psychiatric hospitals and clinics, with patients in the community and even in old people's homes, children's homes and remand centers
- Occupational Psychologists advise companies on improving training, job satisfaction and productivity. They specialize in industrial relations, vocational guidance and counseling, selection and recruitment, organizational structure, worker productivity, job satisfaction, consumer behavior, personnel training and development and the interaction between humans and machines
- Industrial, Organizational and Marketing Psychologists apply psychological principles to personnel administration, management and marketing problems
- Consumer Psychologists are concerned with consumer reactions to products or services. Market research requires their evaluation to assess consumer preferences
- Social Psychologists study group behavior, leadership, attitudes and interpersonal perception
- Criminology and Legal Psychologists work in prisons, juvenile centers and special hospitals. They provide a range of rehabilitative programs through individual as well as group therapy.

Psychology Teacher Prof. Sagar Karande, Principal Dr. Pandit Shelake gave valuable guidance for success of this program.

Self-Assessment Test for Career Choice Report

A Self Assessment Test for Career Choice

Report 2021-22

The department of English conducted a personality Test for the probable careers the students can think of taking after their graduation. The intention of the test is to help the students understand their personality in terms of their behavioural pattern, temperament and preference so that it can help them to choose the right career in which they can find pleasure and other preferences.

A questionnaire was prepared for the students to test their personality and the analysis was done and communicated in person analyzing their answer. The intention was to make them understand themselves better and choose their career as per their preferences. The test was organized on 16 April 2022 between 8.30 am and 9.30 am for both the Arts and Commerce Faculty. It was quite overwhelming participation of three hundred ninety eight (398) from both the faculties. The result was analysed and was informed individual as per the convenience of the students in their personal approach to the examiner. The overwhelming response of the student has encouraged the department concerned to conduct the similar test in the next academic year too.
