S.Y.B.Sc.(Comp. Sci.) Practical Examination
Year (2018-19)
Lab Course – I and II : Advance 'C' programming and DBMS

[Duration : 2Hours] [Max. Marks : 30]

Q.1 Accept n matrix and display the sum of columns and rows. [10]

Q.2 Write a program that will accept a string and character to search. The program will call a function which will search for the occurrence position of the character in the string and return its position. Function should return -1 if the character is not found in the string 10

Q.3 Consider the relations [10]

Person (pnumber, pname, birthdate, income),

Area(aname, area_type).

An area can have one or more person living in it , but a person belongs to exactly one area. The attribute 'area_type' can have values as either urban or rural.

Create the Relations accordingly, so that the relationship is handled properly and the relations are in normalized form (3NF).

Assume appropriate data types for all the attributes. Add any new attributes as required, depending on the queries. Insert sufficient number of records in the relations / tables with appropriate values as suggested by some of the queries.

Write select queries for following business tasks and execute them.

1. List the names of all people living in 'Phursungi' area.
2. List details of all people whose names start with the alphabet "A" & contains maximum 5 alphabets in it.

Report

Department of Mathematics (C.S)
Remedial Basic mathematics Report 2018-19

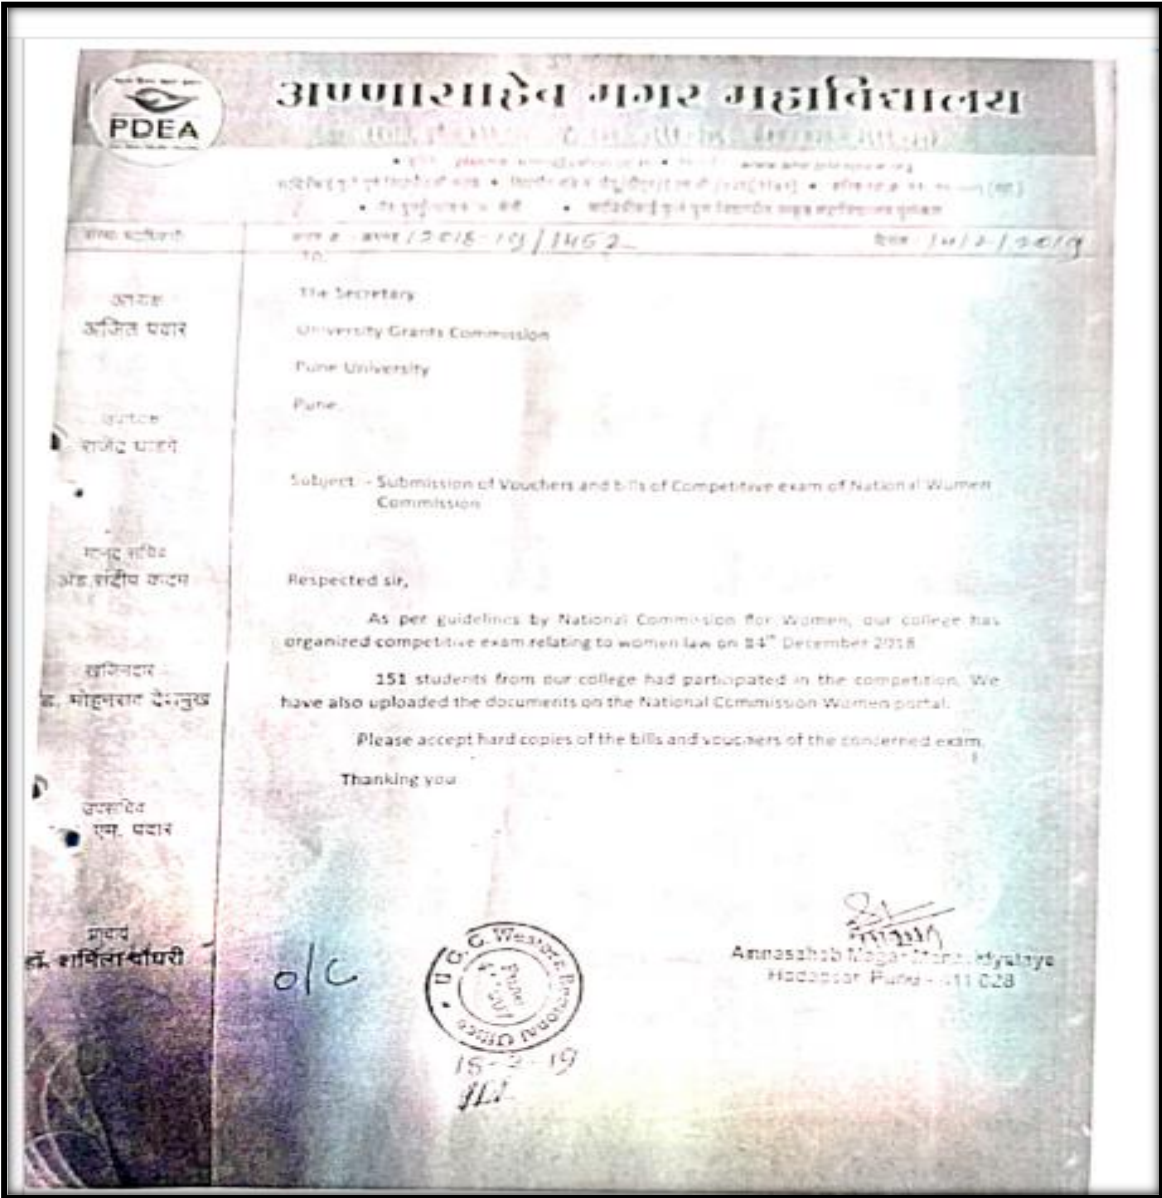

Remedial Basic mathematics Lecture conducted every year for First year and second year B.CS student by mathematics department. Teaching remedial math requires working with students to create a better foundation of math concepts by reinforcing skills that were taught at an earlier time. Learn ways to teach remedial math by identifying the student's learning issue and using a variety of approaches and assessments to overcome it.

Teaching should not only focus on the transmission of knowledge. It is also important to see that students are benefited from the entire learning process. Teachers should provide ample opportunities in class for students to practice and think what they have learnt, and allow them to solve problems by different means. Teachers should also carefully observe the performances of pupils and give them appropriate assistance, feedback and encouragement so as to help them acquire the learning skills, solve their problems and understand their own capability, thus enhancing self-confidence and improving their learning skills.
